Supply Constraints On Rainforest Alliance / UTZ Certified Coffee Due To Current Global Logistics Disruption

JDE is proud of its commitment to sustainability and the sourcing of certified coffee for multiple brands in various markets. Latin America is a key region from where certified coffee is sourced. The current ongoing global logistics disruption is impacting the whole industry's supply of Rainforest Alliance / UTZ Certified coffee, which could affect some of our brands with the Rainforest Alliance and UTZ labels.

As of October 2021, some of our SENSEO® and LÓR products sold in Europe with 100% certified Rainforest Alliance / UTZ coffee may be impacted. JDE is committed to maintaining its required volume of certified coffee. Once the supply becomes available, we have agreed to purchase additional Rainforest Alliance / UTZ certified coffee to match coffee sourced from elsewhere during this period to help support farmers and protect the environment.

JDE, along with the rest of the coffee industry, hope that the situation will improve, and our products will go back to being 100% certified as soon as possible. We appreciate your patience and understanding, and we remain on track to our commitment of sourcing certified coffee as part of our journey to 100% responsibly sourced coffee by 2025.
